A DOUBLE TRAGEDY.

John Tierney and His Wife Shot in Mysterious Manner.

mysterious murder and suicide, or double cle, Robert Flynn, awoke at 6:30 o'clock this morning and went down stairs to the kitchen in the basement and built a fire. While thus engaged he heard a report which did not seem to him, he says, like that of a pistol, and the fall of a body. A later it was followed by anothe report. He sent a young man who had just come in the back door to ascertain the cause of the noise. The young man re-turned reporting nothing. Shortly after-cause or the noise. The young man returned reporting nothing. Shortly afterward Mrs. Tierney's son Thomas, who was said to have been sileep on a sofa in the kitchen, went up and found the two dead bodies. His mother lay in the parlor with her feet in the bedroom adjoining, and his stepfather lay in the center of the parlor. He can to his mother and found the body still warm. Tierney was gasping and frothing at the mouth.

What appeared at first to be a suicide and murder now hooks to the authorities like a double murder. Tierney was married to Mrs. McGuire, a widow with a son, five weeks ago. Thomas was very angry at the marriage, and left the house for two weeks. About the time of the marriage he took a forty-four-calibre "British buil-dog" revolver and threw it behind a trunk in a closet in his bedroom. He claims that no one knew it was there but himself. Young Tierney gives it as his opinion that his mother was murdered by her husband, who, he asserts, committed suicide.

YOSEMITE PARK.

Acting Superintendent Gale Recom mends a Reduction of Its Area. lated Press Leased-wire Service

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—Capt. H. H. Gale of the Fourth Cavairy, acting superintending of the Yosemite National Park, Cal., has submitted his report to the Secretary of the Interior. He says there are many misunderstandings, owing to the private ownership of land in the park. It would be wise, he believes, for the government to purchase the timber-land in the park, and he thinks it would be advisable for a commisson to be appointed to appraise all land owned by private parties and learn if it could be secured.

Game in the park is on the increase. His report recommends a reduction in the size of the park, by withdrawing the mining and agricultural lands, and advocates the addition of natural instead of artificial boundary lines. The reduction would throw out about twenty townships and leave the balance of the park almost wholly in the possession of the government. WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.-Capt. H. H. Gale

Death of Oliver Wendell Holmes.

He Succumbs at Boston to Heart Failure.

Poet, Physician, Patriot — One of America's Bright Galaxy.

"I Wrote Some Lines Once on Time in Wondrous Merry

BOSTON, Oct. 7.-Oliver Wendell died at his home, No. 296 Beacon street, at 12:15 p.m. today. Heart failure was the immediate cause of his death, though he has slowly been failing for the past four or five years. An asthmatic difficulty also assisted in the final breaking down of the

Ten days ago Dr. Holmes returned to his Boston residence from his summer home at Beverly Farm. Before that time slight were noted, and the removal was thought ble. It proved, however, very fatiguing, and the doctor did not regain his for den attack of heart failure which, with long asthmatic trouble, prostrated him, but After his physicians had gone, however and before medical aid could be called he

Around his bedside were gathered the mbers of his family, Judge Oliver Wendell Holmes, Jr., the only surviving sor Mrs. Oliver Wendell Holmes, Jr., and Edward J. Holmes, nephew of the poet. Al-though the poet's death occurred shortly after midday, it did not become known intil a late hour tonight. The house was the prevent the household from being dis

Dr. Holmes was born at Cambridge, Mass., August 29, 1809. He graduated at Haryard College in 1829, and began the study of law, which he soon abandoned for that of medicin. After taking his degree of M.D., he spent some time in hospitals in Paris and other countries. He returned to Boston in 1835 and began practicing. In 1838 he was elected professor of anatomy and physiology in Dartmouth College, and in 1847 was appointed to a similar professorship in the Medical School of Harvard University, from which he retired in 1882. But it is chiefly as a writer that Dr. Holmes is known. As early as 1831 his contributions appeared in various periodicals, and his reputation as a poet was established by the delivery of a metrical lessay entitled "Poetry," which was followed by others in rapid succession. In 1857 he began in the Atlantic Monthly a series of articles under the title of "The Autocrat of the Breakfast Table," and in 1872 by the "Poet at the Breakfast Table," As a writer of songs, lyrics and poems for festive occasions he has long occupied the first place.

tive occasions he has long occupied the first place.

In 1886 he visited England, where he was received with great cordiality. Editions of his collective poems have appeared from time to time, the first in 1836. He had contributed largely to current medical literature, as well as to literary journals, and reviews, and for a long time held a warm olace in the hearts of the people as warm place in the hearts of the people as his pen, entitled "Over the Teacups," ap-peared in the Atlantic Monthly during 1890. The latter years of his life have been spent in quiet retirement at Beverly Falls farm, broken occasionally by a lecture to

The next year, when it was proposed to break up the old frigate Constitution, Holmes published in the Boston Advertiser his lyrical protest

"Ay, tear her tattered ensign down!" Which was widely copied in the news-papers and circulated in handbills, saving the ship from destruction, and giving the young poet a reputation. He studied law for a year at the law school in Cambridge and at that time produced some of his best-known humorous pieces, including "Evening, by a Tailor" and "The Height best-known humorous pieces, including:

In 1833, with Enes Sargent and Park Benjamin, he contributed to a gift book entitled "The Harbinger," the profits of which were given to the Asylum for the Bilind. When the Atlantic Monthly was established in the autumn of 1887, Dr. Holmes became one of the first contributors and by many readers was esteemed the most brilliant of all that notable galaxy. His first contributions were in the form of a series of conversational papers entitled, "The Autocrat of the Breakfast Table," in which were included some of the first. in which were included some of the finest of his poems. The "Autocrat" was fol-lowed by a similar series, "The Professor at the Breakfast Table," and, after an inthe magazine was issued in bookform in 1859, 1860 and 1872 respectively. These papers, he states in his preface, were the fulfillment of a plan that was conceived twenty-five years before, when he pub-lished in the New England Magazine two articles with the title of the "Autocrat of the Breakfast Table." Dr. Holmes also wrote two novels, "Elsie Venner, a Ro-mance of Destiny," and "The Guardian Angel." Among his other prose-works are "Soundings from the Atlantic," a collec-tion of essays; "Mechanism in Thought and Morals;" "Memories of John Lothrop Motley and Ralph Waldo Emerson;" "A Mortal Antipathy," and "One Hundred Days in Europe.' Dr. Holmes has been successful in every kind of literature that he has undertaken, but his most brilliant work is probably "The Autocrat of the Breakfast Table." Among his poems his own favorite was said to be "The Chambered Nautilus," but several of his patri-otic lyrics easily take rank with it. Some of his satirical pieces like "The Moral Bully" are considerd to be as merciless as any critic could desire, while among humorous pieces his "Wonderful One-hoss Shay" is a classic. As a poet of "occa-sions" he had few equals. The publishers of the Atlantic Monthly gave a breakfast in his honor on his seventieth birthday, August 29, 1879, at which many literary celebrities were present and there he read his poem of "The Iron Gate," written fo

BALTIMORE, Oct. 7.—The Baltimore Sun correspondent boarded the New York as she came up from quarantine and car-ried to Mr. Wilson the first home news he had received for some time. His atten-tion was called to the Sun's report of the speeches of Maj. McKinley, commenting tentively, and, putting down the paper remarked: "The best answer to all this is the speech I delivered and which Maj. McKinley is criticising. If Maj. McKinley and his followers may take all the comfort they can draw. "I went abroad at my doctor's suggestions to shake off my unspeakable fatigue, so as to take part as much as possible in the campaign. In England I visited friends at Oxford and Cambridge. Everybody being, in London phrase, out of town, I saw few public men. The dinner tendered me was, I felt, too great an honor to my country and myself to be delined, coming from the great commercial time to do-I dictated and gave to the t better than speaking as an America ditizen and exactly as I speak here at nome. In this I was not deceived, my speech was received by the whole audience in the spirit in which it was made, and while many, perhaps, most of them, may have disagreed with me, I found that more than one long-headed Englishman agreed that our reduced tariff would make us a greater corspetitor in the world's markets, and eventually regain for us our share of the carrying trade of the world."

In London, Mr. Wilson paid not the slightest extention to politics and saw few public min, except at the Chamber of Commerce dinner. The English public men so, far seem to know but little of the new tariff, and he heard not many expressions of opinion on the subject, but as a general rule, the English people always welcome anything that awould promoted trade. Mr. Strauss here interposed and declared that Mr. Wilson, with his characteristic modesty had tried hard to conceal timself and keep out of public note, but the hospitable British business men had learned of his presence in London and insisted on entertaining him.

W'lson was asked whether he had made any investigation about "trusts" in Enclars. "I did not this time." he replied.

W. Ison was asked whether he had made any investigation about "trusts" in England. "I did not this time," he replied, "but when I was in England in 1889, I did, and dicussed the subject in a series of articles I wrote for the Sun at that time. Some of those articles were writter, from England. Trusts, as we know them, of course, cannot exist in Great Pritain. Where the world is free to compete no trust can corner the market."

With regard to coal, Congressman Wilmon stated that English syndicates which formerly owned the Nova Scotia mines were much pleased at getting rid of the property. Practically bunker coal was on the free list in the McKinley bill. Foreign steamships could and can now buy Nova Scotia coal at Boston, New York or any American port free of duty and yet they prefer to buy Maryland and Virginia coal. This fact alone ought to do away with the scare about free coal.

"If you should unfortunately be defeated for the House," observed Mr. Strauss, "I have no doubt the people of West Virginia will insist on putting you in the Senate."

The speaker got no turther, for his voice was drowned by a storm of hisses.

Dr. McGlynn again took the platform and rebuked the Catholics for bissing, saying it was just such incidents as this which intensified the feeling of the A.P.A.

LONDON MARKETS.

The Issue of Foreign Loans a Prospective Stimulus.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

LONDON, Oct. 7.—During the past week the money market has relapsed into lethargy. The only probability of improvement lies in the issue of foreign loans. The prospectus of a a new Roumanian loan of $5,000,000 has been issued. Besides the Chinese and Japanese loans. Austria and Spain are likely to issue loans. If they are issued the money rates in London.

don will be raised. The canard relative to an Anglo-French dispute had a serious effect upon the market here. Many weak: speculators were shaken out, but wary operators, knowing the source of the scare took advantage of it to reap a good harvest. European bourses are less effected than London. The continental operators, knowing the rumors were unfounded bought freely in London.

The position of the market was strengthened by the elimination of weak operators, but much nervousness remains on account of the Chinese-Japanese wer, the illness of the Czar and the political situation in Europe. The prices for the week were a trifle better, the tone of the American market having been less affected than that of the departments, but showing a fractional loss on the week.

In its financial article this morning the Times says that the trade returns for September are rather unsatisfactory. The exports fully demonstrate that a revival of trade with America has set in, but the values of both imports and exports are below the totals of September, 1893, although the figures then were reduced by the great coal strike.

AMERICAN WHEAT.

LONDON, Oct. 7.—The Times in a leader discussing the condition of wheat-growing in America as reported by the Agricultural Board, says the American farmer must endeavor to raise prices or abandon wheat-growing. American railroads and steamers will some day cease to carry his wheat for almost nothing. It is reasonable to regard the present price of wheat as eccentric, transient, phenomenal. The return of prices to previous level will be assisted by the abundance of gold promised by new discoveries.

But now, in the last report, they concede that the tendency of the best authorities seems to be toward a still smaller caliber, some professional men asserting that the caliber should never be larger than 6.5 millimeters. One result of the reduction of caliber is shown by the new mavy rifle, which will shoot point-blank up to 725 yards. This means that at any distance within two-fifths of a mile, the men can shoot accurately without allowance for the dropping of the bullet, and are thus relieved from the necessity of adjusting their sights for each range.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—A World special from Boston says four paintings, valued at from $15,000 to $18,000, that were stolen from the residence of the late Frederick L. Ames at North Easton, in the summer of 1885, have been recovered by the family within a week, and the recovery has been as mysterious as was the robbery nine years ago. The family are still in the dark as to whether their pictures have been all these-years. They have no idea as to the identity of the burglars.

At the time of the robbery, Ames offered $1500 for information leading to their recovery, but last week inquiry was made as to whether the reward was still good. The reply was in the affirmative. After some mysterious negotiations, the pictures were given into the possession of the family, and $1500 was paid to a lawyer in this city, to be turned over to the men who gave the information. Everybody concerned in the transaction.

A short time ago a man was arrested in New York for murder. He had no money with which to pay his lawyer. In this extremity he told the lawyer he could get $1500 from some pictures that had been at member, and he told to him the story of the robbery.

He received the force of the fall on the breast and death was instantaneous. The moving mass crushed his face into the ground, bruising it so that it was unrecognizable last night. The occipetal bone and all the bones below the eyes were crushed. Today the undertaker restored the features to much of their natural appearance. speedy transmission or news by a great press association is the control of unlimited wire service, the conditions of which shall always insure a clear and open highway for the news of the day.

"While not designed as a test of the wire facilities of the Associated Press, the Springfield Union requested that after the wire had closed on Saturday night they be furnished with direct telegraphic communication with Denver, Colo. It was desired that the connections be direct, since the challenge for a contest between the type-setting corps of the Union and the Denver Republican was to be discussed. In less than ten minutes after "Goodnight" had been given on the Western Associated Press service, the line had been established between Massachusetts and Colorado, and conversation was going on. The route was via New York, Washington, Pittsburgh, Toledo, Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, Ellis, and thence to Denver.

Charge of Fraud. NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Herbert Allen, a financier of Brighton, England, the manager of the Langes Property Investment Syndicate of America, with offices at Nos. 115 and 117 Cannon street, London, was arrested yesterday morning by detectives, and arraigned this morning in the Tombs Police Court. Police Court. The arrest was made on a telegram from Chief of Police Atchison of Des Moines, Iowa, charging Allen with obtaining $1500 from Dr. B. Lyons of Des Moines on false pretenses.

The company of which the prisoner is manager was organized for the purpose of investing English capital in American farm lands. Allen characterizes his arrest as malicious, and says that at best the case is an attempt to settle a civil matter by criminal proceedings. The amount he is charged with stealing was, he aileges, given to him for preliminary expenses, and his arrest was the first intimation he had of Lyons's dissatisfaction,

David Lubin of Sacramento, whose ition to "equalize the burdens ad benefits of protection, and for the loration of the condition of labor manufacturing centers," has been ferred to on several occasions e columns, is an indefatigable orker, and apparently possessed of less energy. He has recently ised, for free circulation, 50,000 copies of a pamphlet of sixty-four pages, in which he further elucidates his the ories, answers objections and gives extracts relating to the subject from a large number of American papers may not be known to some of our ders that Mr. Lubin's plan was lopted as a plank in the platform of the Republican State Convention as

The proposition advanced by Mr. which he believes will soon be a national issue—is, in brief, that the United States government reice the cost of transporting staple icultural products from American orts to foreign seaports, the obect being to enhance the price of such ducts in the United States. The ons for enhancing the price of these products are stated by Mr. Lubin as follows:

First-Manufactures are protected y a tariff, which causes an artificial nhancement of the prices of manu-actures in the United States, wheres staple agricultural products are all at the world's free-trade prices.

farmers on this crop amounted to more than $170,000,000. The question here arises: Is it de sirable for American farmers to keep on attempting to raise wheat for export at a loss, in the face of a con-tinued decline in price? Can they compete with the cheap labor of India, and Russia and South America, even when aided by a government bounty? Would it not be better for them to confine wheat raising to the quantity needed for home consumpion? At the best, even with government protection, the wheat grower in the United States could only expect to make a bare living as long as a large surplus is raised over what is consumed at home. Why not attempt o raise some of those crops which we still import in large quantities? Such, for instance, as sugar from beets, an industry that is practicable over a large area of the United States. The Democratic party has done its best to kill this promising industry by taking off the two-cent bounty, but when again in 1897 they will certainly re store it, and this will do good indirectly, as well as directly, by lessenng the area of wheat production. It seems to us that rather than to try and bolster up an industry which has to compete with so many and increasing disadvantages as has the raising of wheat in the United States for export, the government would do better to thoroughly investigate the adaptability of various sections of the country to the raising of products which are now imported, and then offering bounties to stimulate such in dustries until they are on their feet.

As soon as the production of wheat is reduced to the quantity needed for Boyle Heights M. E. Anniversary Exercises.

Meetings Held by Salvation Army Evangelists Afternoon and Evening

Exercises at the Seventh-day Adventist Camp-meeting Attended by Many Visitors—Other Church Services.

The tenth anniversary of the dedication of the Boyle Heights Methodist Episcopal Church was observed yesterday with appropriate; services. There was a lovethe ninth chapter of Acts: "Then had the church rest through all Judea and Gal-ilee and Samaria and were edified; and walking in the fear of the Lord and in the comfort of the Holy Ghost, were multi-

The preacher reviewed briefly the history of the church for a short period, including that time, and, applying the facts, he urged that the church of today, if it would attain the greatest prosperity, should walk in the fear of God. Members should give thereally as more to it and not should give themselves more to it and not so much to worldly amusement. Dr. Bresee preached for nearly an hour, and his sermon attracted close attention. In the afternoon there was a reunion of members and friends of the Sunday-school, at which special music was ren-dered.

The Epworth League meeting in the evening was led by Rev. E. S. Chase, the new pastor, and later there was a special evening service. Y.W.C.A. GOSPEL MEETING.

The gospel meeting of the Young Women's Christian Association at their rooms yesterday afternoon was well attended.

After singing several hymns the meeting was opened by Miss Morse, who read the first seventeen verses of the thirteenth chapter of John, and made some comments. Mrs. Moffatt then sang "O to be More Like Jesus." Several short prayers were offered. Miss Rider, the leader of the meeting then talked on "Joyful Service." She considered the three essentials of Christian life to be, first, work; second, energy; third, success. Many are called to the most humble service, and to do the little things is harder than the great ones, but all work done for the Master is honorable.

The speaker went on to say that the first thing to find out was how to get into Christ. It will not be accomplished by folding our arms and doing nothing; we must work to be saved; we have the power to be saved or lost. God cannot save us against our will. "Him that cometh to Me I will in no wise cast out." "Every knee to Him shall bow; every tongue shall confess Him." Then we must toil to be saved God's own way. "I wanted to be saved in some big church," said the speaker, "but that was not God's purpose. He made me so hungry for Him that I was willing to be saved at a camp-meeting with my knees down on the straw. He humbled my pride. Beloved we must toil to be saved in God's own way."

The address was preceded by a touching sale. "Can a low Former Him Methow."

The address was preceded by a touching solo, "Can a Boy Forget His Mother." A large orchestra filled the platform, played several well-rendered selections and assisted in the song service led by F. C. Guy.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

At the First Congregational Church the pulpit was supplied both morning and evening yesterday by Evangelist Mason. The morning theme was, "The Christ Life." The text, John x, 11, "I am come that they might have life, and that they might have life, and that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly."

The natural man is dead to the Christ life, said the speaker. He camnot receive the things of the spirit of God. To be carnally minded is death.

Every sinner has a nature like Adam: Prone to evil, subject to temptation, bearing the image of the earthly, allens to the commonwealth of Israel. But the sun of righteousness arises, the day-star appears, the door of the human beart is opened. Ohrist enters, and darkness is dispelled. The light of regeneration appears, the new life of God in the fach is manifested, the light of God shines in the heart to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ. To be transformed, renewed, born again; to have life eternal is to possess Christ Himself. If Christ life is that of the young lady whe took her diamond earrings and put them in the contribution bux for mission work, and gave herself to the work of city evangelization, visiting the jail and City Prison, and working with the gospel union in their tent meetings; working outside, self-supporting. Los Angeles is proud of such noble, consecrated Christian womanhood.

The Christ life is the life of love. Greater love her to prove the consecrated Christian womanhood.

The Christ life is the life of life of liferate love hath no man than this, a man lay down his life for his fries Genulue love, unfergued, always manifitially in devotion, self-ascrifice; it seeks to please its object. The Christ life displayed by the disciple in as much as lives for others. To be, not to profess to do, not feign; to live, not to attempt, is the demand of the new man, Christ Jesus CHRIST CHURCH.

At Christ Church yesterday morning. Rev. A. C. Clark delivered a sarmon based upon the words found in St. John vi, 12: "Gather up the fragments that remain, that nothing may be lost."

Among his remarks Mr. Clark said that in both of the instances recorded of the feeding of the multitude by our Lord, He worked upon the laws of nature, and at no time did he interfere with them. After the multitude had eaten of the loaves and fishes, we are told that Jesus ordered the disciples to take baskets and gather what was left. So it is with rature there is no loss. After she has bounteously and luxuriously supplied her wants, she stores up what is left for future use. As we walk through the forests the leaves of untold years are beneath our feet, in the fields, after the garnering of the grain, the chaff remains. Both leaves and chaff in their decay, form forces and powers, which are returned to the earth, and by a fertilising process, make the next growth more abundant. Nothing in nature is lost, not an atom or leaf; a molecule or a grain of sand; but all working together bring forth good and upon the ruins and deathbed of nature there is being continually constructed a new life and creation. If it were not for these resurrections man would entirely disappear.

What, then, is the lesson of the text? Is it only true of nature, or opportunity, health, money, friends and reputations. These we would like to treasure up, but can we always do it? Are they always our possessions? Too often, when we feel most was but an empty bubble.

Life is brief at best and with limited time and bpportunity. Let the wisest of his race devote his time to study; there are realms beyond which he has not investigated. A man may possess extraordinary talents, but there are truths that he has not dreamed of. Must we not confess then, that our hold on truth and wisdom is but meager?

But the text has reference to something which we possess and can treasure up for future life. Because we have Hislied to grasp all the meanings of our Heavenly Father but all work done for the Master is honorable.

The young Christian just starting to follow Christ goes to work enthusiastically and joyfully, but after rubbing against the world and its hard places is apt to lose much of the joy and think too much of simply the duty of service. The "may i" of love is supplanted by the "must i" of duty. We too often begin the day by asking the Lord to guide us and carry our burdens, and then go out to our work and try to do it all ourselves.

We must not try to serve the Lord with one hand and ourselves with the other, but should give ourselves entirely to Him in loving service, and let Him lead us and thus find the highest joy, even through the trials which we must sometimes pass through. Prayer was offered by Miss Rider and Miss Morse.

Mrs. Moffatt sang a beautiful solo. Miss Morse said this was the first anniversary of her work with the association here, and spoke of the work and growth of the year just closing, and what we hope to do in the year to come.

SIMPSON TABERNACLE.

There was a good attendance at Simpson Tabernacle yesterday morning, and Dr. McLean preached the first sermon of the new conference year, taking for his subject, "Rebuilding the Walls." from Nehemiah 2. The speaker said: "The seal of the prophets for the rebuilding of Jerusalem had in part succeeded, but now they were at the mercies of their enemies because the walls were down, and the rebuilding of the walls of the Holy City was of the greatest importance not only to the Israelites, but to the whole world. Who should be the leader in this great work? God had appointed him in Nehemish, the cupbearer, at the throne of Xerxes, who had grown into wonderful favor at the court. So any man or woman may prove their loyalty to their church and to their God under any and all circumstances.

There are a great many people whose seal discounts their prudence, and is always getting them into trouble. We must not think our prayers but pray our prayers and think our prudence that results may, come from both. What God wants us to do is the very best we can, for Him and for ourselves, and He will do the rest." In conclusion, Dr. McLean said: "This incident of Nefermiah's success, I feet is paralleled by the success of Simpson

But the plans and purposes of last year will not suffice for this year; we must bring new plans, new energy, new faith, new devotion, and need consecration and success will foilow. The whole people worked with implements of work in one hand, and implements of work in one hand, and implements of warfare in the others, and at the lapse of a certain time the walls were finished. So we are entering this year upon the work of building for the Master and for Methodism, and success will follow if we are faithful. To success will follow in the day. Fidelity calls for sacrifice, and we should be ready to make it."

During the offertory Mrs. F. L. Fuller sang a beautiful solo, "The King of Love My Shepherd Is," at the close of the service.

SEVENTLIANT ADVENTIGES

SEVENTH-DAY ADVENTISTS.

The usual services were conducted at the Seventh-day Adventists' camp at Alvarado and Pico streets, yesterday and there was a large increase in the number of visitors. In the evening Elder R. S. Owen delivered a discourse, taking as his text Isalah Iv, 3: "Incline your ear and come unto me; hear, and your soul shall live; and I will make an everlasting covenant with you, even the sure mercles of David."

The speaker said: "The subject to which we invite your attention this evening is that of the everlasting covenant which God proposes to make with every one who will hear the invitation given. That this is a gospel invitation is clearly shown by the first verse: "Ho, every one that thirsteth, come yet to the waters," etc. Therefore, in compliance with the gospel, the individual will meet the conditions upon which this covenant will be made. There are several covenants spoken of in the Bible, but God never has, and never can, with any party, enter into a covenant in which obedience to His will is not recognized. To do so would be admitting some other will equal to His, and denying His own supremacy. Hence, we will find the Divine will the foundation of every divine covenant."

equal to His, and denying His own supremacy. Hence, we will find the Divine will the foundation of every divine covenant."

The speaker then proceeded to show, from Psalms cv, 6-8; Deuteronomy iv, 4-13; Matthew xxvii, 28; Hebrews, xiii, 20, the identity of the everiasting covenant, the Abrahamic covenant, and the new covenant, and, continuing, said: "God is not arbitrary nor selfish in requiring mankind to conform to His will, for in the will of God is comprehended the highest good to man. This supreme will is expressed in the ten commandments, which constitute the everlasting covenant. In the body of this law we find the fourth commandment, which enjoins the observance of the seventh day as the Sabbath. This Sabbath is set forth in the scripture as a sign of God's creative power, and its observance is a recognition of Him as the supreme being, and His will as the supreme law. This covenant was broken by Adam (Hosea vi. 7.) but it is renewed in Christ. In order to renew it Christ must meet the conditions. That He did this is shown by Psalms xi, S. In speaking of Christ the psalmist says: "I delight to do Thy will, O God; yee, Thy law is in my heart." In consequence of this Christ is called our righteousness, our sanctification, etc. In every one with whom the new covenant is made, these same conditions must be found; that is, the law must be written in the heart, and they must delight to do His will. As stated by the prophet Jeremish. "A new covenant will I make. . . . I will write my law in their hearts (Jeremish xxxi, 31.) Such a company will be found under the third angel's message. For, says the revelator, "Here are they that keep the commandments of God (Revelations xiv, 12.) These commandments are identical with those kept by the Savior, and declared by Jehovah to be His covenant."

"NADA, THE LILY."

An Important Copyright Question Raised Over Haggard's Book.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 7.—Judge Marc

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 7.—Judge Marcus W. Acheson of the United States Circuit Court heard arguments in chambers on Saturday on the demurrer to the complaint of H. Rider Haggard, the novelist, and the publishing firm of Lonmans, Green & Co., of New York against the Waverly Company of New York against the Waverly Company of New York for alleged infringement of the copyright of Haggard's novel, "Nada, the Lily."

This is the case arising under the new international copyright law, passed in 1890, and involves the constitutionality of the act. J. A. Arnold of New York, counsel for the defendant, urged that the right of the President to declare the copyright treaties with various foreign countries under the copyright law was a delegation of legislative and judicial power in violation of the Constitution. If this view is sustained, it will render invalid every copyright granted to foreigners since the new law went into effect.

DAY OF ATONEMENT.

THE MOST IMPORTANT PAST IN THE JEWISH CALENDAR.

It Will Be Celebrated by the Hebrew Congregations Tuesday and Wednesday—Its True Sig-

The Day of Atonement, the most important fast in the Jewish calendar, will be celebrated Tuesday and Wednesday of be celebrated Tuesday and Wednesday or this week.

The congregation B'nai B'rith, Rev. A.
Blum, rabbi, will hold services at Unity Church, corner Third and Hill streets, on Tuesday evening at 5:30 o'clock, and on Wednesday from 10 a.m. until sundown.
The Montefiore congregation, Rev. Mr.
Edelman, rabbi, will also hold the usual services at Masonic Temple.

Concerning this solemn fast, Rabbi Blum says:

concerning this solemn fast, Rabbi Blum says:

"There is no observance in the Jewish calendar so important or so generally respected as the fast of atonement. Indeed its importance has been so emphatically proclaimed and so universally recognized that it is become a habit with many professing Jews to regard it as the one essential feature of Judaism.

"The observance of the Day of Atonement as a season of fasting and prayer, is a means to an end and not the end itself. Alone it is of no value; it must be the culmination of plous resolutions made during the preceding holy days and the beginning of the new and better life which the carrying out of those resolutions will inaugurate. It must be at once a stopping place and a point of departure; a milestone on the road of time dividing the evil past that we leave behind us and the religious future to which we look forward. It must witness not only the wordy proclamation of our creeds, but also the beginning of the new and better deeds which will result from the carrying of those creeds into effect.

"Nothing is more foreign to the spirit of true Judaism than the idea that the Almighty is satisfied with a mere perfunctory performance of His commands. No religion calls for more sincerity in action than does the Jewish faith. We read that the Lord looketh to the heart, that He judges according to the actions of omen, and we cannot for an instant entertain the thought that by prayer and fasting alone we can make amends for wrong-doing or propitiate the Diety for the neglect of His laws.

"The sacred writings ere clear on this point—that the Day of Atonement is a day for genuine repentance of wrong-doing, by means of reparation of the past and preparation for the future. Prayers and fasts are the secondary consideration. The important feature of the day is the religious regeneration, which it is so well oalculated to produce. To restore what we have wrongfully taken, to undo the evil we have wrongfully taken, to undo the evil we have wrongfully taken, to undo the origina the day of death, of which the Day of Atonement is the image and the fore-warner, it is meant to be kept with benefit to ourserves and acceptability to the Almighty.

"The difficient is what secred acripture and the Tahmid record in regard to the services, as performed by the high priest on the Day of Atonement at Jerusalem: Offering numerous accrifices, making abusiness and changing garments so often, also that the high priest was allowed to est but fittle on atonement eve, and pass the night in the temple, performing numerous ceremonies. We can readily when the halt passed that day without making one mistake.

"The book called 'Shebet Jehuda' contains the following information, given by an vyew/thoses to the solemnities of the Day of Atonement at Jerusalem: 'Seven days before Yem-Kippur they prepared in the choice of the high priest seats for the chiefs of justice, the nest, the high priest and the segan; also, seventy gifter chairs were placed for the anhedrim. After all had been seated, the oldest of the priests arose and addressed an exhortation to the high priest. "Remember," said he, 'before whom thou standest when entering the hely of holles. The least lack of devotion might be punished with death. Therefore, examine your contact, and see if you and your brothers have not sinned." The high priest replied: "I have examined any conduct and charged my brothers to do likewise, and we all have repeated." After the declaration, the nasl arose and spoke words of encouragement to him."

"Soon thereafter it was announced that the high priest would proceed to the temple, and all were to accompany him." The procession moved as follows: At the head marched the descendants of the race of the kings of Israel, then those of the house of David, a herald preceded them, shouting, "Render homage to the house of David, a herald preceded them, shouting, "Render homage to the house of David, a herald preceded them, shouting, "Render homage to the house of the kings of Israel, then those of the house of the temple and the mem and purple. Then came the singers, the cornet players, the guardians and employees of the temple and the members of the sanhedrim. The procession closed up with hundreds of priests bearing silver sticks to make room.

"Then came the high priest, surrounded by the ancients of the sacerdotal order. At every street corner where he passed learned men cried out to him: "We greet thee, high priest, pray in our behalf to the Eternal for our preservation, so that we may devote our lives to His holy law. When he had arrived at the gate of the mountain of the temple, he prayed for the preservation of the house of David, the house of Aaron, and for the sanctuary, and the entire multitude exclaimed in a loud voice, Amen! with such force that the earth shook. The high priest, bowing toward the people, then turned away, visibly moved. Two priests led him to his room, where he was left alone.

The returning home of the high priest after he had performed his holy task was still grander and more majestic. All the people dressed in white marched ahead of him, carrying white tapers. Wherever he passed the houses were illuminated. The crowd was so large that it was often midnight before he reached home, as every one was eager to kiss the hand of the high priest."

ELECTRICAL TIMING DEVICE. BLECTRICAL TIMING DEVICE.

n electrical timing device was in use the meeting recently held by the New igland Breeders' Association at Mystic ark, Boston. This device is described by e Horseman as a large clock set up in near the timer's stand, controlled by potricity and fitted with a big, black I, on which revolve white "hands" ting to white figures. As the leading res crosses the wire after the word is an interest of the results of the efficial time long before it announced. The dispatches do not state whether or not the quarters are remained, but the natural supposition is that the clock is in every way similar to a spit-second timing watch, and therefore should register the time of the quarters in the same manner. The Horseman says it has always favored the adoption of some device which would publicly register the time made, and now that the practice has been introduced and found to be acceptable to spectators there is little doubt that it will become general. The further above the board everything connected with racing is done the better it is for the sport.

There will be no Harvard-Princeton game of football this year, and the Crimson team's advisers and managers have so notified the Tigers. The Tramp Nuisance.

The Tramp Nuisance.

It looks as if the tramp problem is going to be worse this winter than in previous years. Most of the vagrants who have been brought into the Police Court of late have been given "floaters." This has been done by, when a man was found guilty of vagrancy, releasing him on his own recognizance with instructions to appear for sentence the next day. Of course, in such cases, they usually fail to appear. The opinion has been expressed quite strongly to the effect that if these undesirable visitors to the city must be given "floaters" they be sentenced before they are released.

If this is done they may know just what to expect if caught in the city, and it also places police officers in a position where they can tell better what to do if they happen to find any men still hanging about town after "floaters" have been given them.

FIELD OF POLITICS.

Unstable Material on the Fusion Ticket.

The Weakness of the Demo-Populist Combination Strikingly Apparent.

A Brief Review of the Situation Discontent Among the Two Parties-Republicans Confident.

The Democrats and Populists have at last completed their negotiations and placed their tickets, or rather ticket, in the field for the consideration of the voters. The abortive attempts at unison and harmony have been anything but successful and there are flattering prospects that instead of a vari-colored butterfly a self-destroying of a vari-colored butterfly a self-destroying moth will issue from the hybrid chrysalis when the final act of transformation is consummated at the pools next month. Southern California Democrats, like their fellow-sufferers, the Populists, have always had a chronic and deep-seated desire to hold office and resp the emoluments thereof, and they have apparently here.

willing to sacrifice principle in to attain the end sought. This year they took the initiative and made over-tures to the party which has furnished a refuge for all the discontented people of Socialistic and rabid tendencies. Strange to say, the Populists did not reach ou and grab the hand of pretended assist ance stretched forth with the avidity which it was expected they would manifest and, as a result the Democrats were obliged to bid higher and higher in order to be allowed the privilege of forming the much-desired combination. A strong element among the Populists rebelled against fusion, urging that it would be folly to unite merely for the sake of assisting other men into office. On the other hand a large contingent of Democrats, headed by Brewer of Compton opposed the fusion policy in the interests of the preservation of the Democratic individuality. These two opposing factions have succeeded in stirring up a discontent that promises to be far-reaching in its influence. Instead of strengthening the Democratic cause the pronounced belief is that the way for a Republican triumph has only been made smoother by the practice of amalgamation adopted by the two other parties. The striking difference between the personnel of the tickets is so strongly marked as to make a comparison almost ridiculous. In looking about for material stretched forth with the avidity the personnel of the tickets is so strongly marked as to make a comparison almost ridiculous. In looking about for material the Populists selected candidates indiscriminately and upon such haphazard choice the Democrats were obliged to join forces. They started out by taking up Bower, the Populist nominee for the office of District Attorney, and propose to make the campaign with a man who is wholly unknown to many members of the bar of this city against Maj. Donnell, who has had years of experience as a public prosecutor and whose record as a lawyer in this and other States will bear the closest scrutiny. But this is but a sample of their work and the same may be said of others scrutiny. But this is but a sample of their work and the same may be said of others on the "patchwork" list. They even went so far as to indorse the man Bartholomew, about whose official career as Justice of the Peace much has been said in the way

e doubted. The Republicans, with a united front, will begin the regular county canvass this week, leaving the "Demo-Pops" to trail about in their rear in the attempt to reconcile the inharmonious elements.

Political Points.

Millard Club expects to have a The Millard Club expects to have a rousing time at the meeting to be held tonight in the Jones Block, on North Spring street. In order to allow its members an opportunity to attend the raily the Los Angeles Republican Club will not meet until Thursday evening.

A meeting of the Democratic County Central Committee had been called for Saturday morning, but a quorum failed to appear and no business was transacted. Tonight at Pasadena the Republicans will formally open the campaign by holding a grand raily. Meetings will also be held at Santa Monica and the Soldiers' Home.

The recommendation of the Fire Commission that the fire ordinance be amended so as to permit the storage of crude petroleum in quantities not exceeding one weeks' supply on the premises where it is consumed will be presented to the Council today. The City Engineer has been directed to report to the Council regarding the cost of the construction of sewers in certain districts in excess of the actual cost of building sewers of only sufficient capacity to carry the sewage for such districts. This matter has been under consideration for some time, and a report as to what the excesses of cost in the several districts will be will help to place the matter in such a position that action can be taken on it more intelligently.

She was subsequently made directress of the American School of Opera, promoted by Mrs. Thurber, and was to receive $10,000 a year salary. The financial difficulties of that institution left her without employment or means, and she sued for salary for years in vain. She appeared at various times in grand opera and finally took a position as teacher in the College of Music in New York, which sickness compelled her to give up. She died almost alone in a little cabin in the woods.

Herman Perlet, the well-known conductor who has been engaged by F. C. Whitney for the Louise Beaudet Opera Bouffe Company, is one of the most able musical directors in the country and a composer of no mean order. He has recently completed an opera and is at present negotiating with a prominent manager with a view to its production during the present season.

The popular concerts by the newly organized Scheel Orchestra at the Auditorium in San Francisco seem to have struck the popular taste, and there is an apparent desire on the part of the enthusiastic lovers of music to make Mr. Scheel's venture a success. The regular symphony concerts on Friday nights call out the select society patrons at a dollar a seat; but the popular concerts, at which equally good music is rendered by the same artists, offer strong inducements to those who do not object to smoking; while the admission fee of 25 cents makes parties of from four to twelve quite popular. A Young Woman Left Alone in the City.

A young woman called at the police station yesterday afternoon to leave a description of her husband, whom she said had been missing for several days. The wife had evidently been deceived by some schemer, for she appeared to be entirely unaccustomed to the ways of the world. To the detectives she said that she had only been in the city a few weeks, and that her home was in San Diego. She was very anxious that her parents should not be informed of her misfortune, and urged the officers to endeavor to discover the whereabouts of her missing husband.

Abuse of the Restaurant Liquor

It looks as if the promoters ordinance so as to prohibit the issuance of restaurant liquor licenses for a place for which a saloon license has been issued, would be saloon to the anything further in the mat-unable to do anything further in the matter.

When that ordinance was passed by the Council several months ago, it was expressed on the part of members of the Council that the object was to adopt a measure which would prevent the violation of the Sunday-closing ordinance, and at the same time would, under proper conditions, allow a respectable restaurant to serve liquors with regular meals.

The ordinance was passed with that express understanding, but, regardless of it, the Police Commission proceeded to issue restaurant liquor licenses almost indiscriminately for saloons and other places for which it was not intended such licenses should be issued. As a matter of fact, it is openly admitted the purpose of taking out the licenses under that ordinance is, in a majority of cases, to sell liquors on Sundays and after midnight in evasion of the Sunday-closing ordinance, which the people of the city, by a majority vote not long ago, said they wanted enforced.

A saloon license gives the right to serve liquors with meals during such hours as the law permits a saloon to be open. If the proprietor of a restaurant, conducted in connection with a saloon, desires to serve meals on Sundays or at other times when the law requires saloons to be closed, there is nothing to prevent his doing so under a restaurant license, which may be obtained for $2 per month.

A restaurant liquor license gives no further rights than an ordinary restaurant license in the way of nerving meals, except to permit the serving of liquors with such meals. Nothwithstanding the fact the restaurant liquor licenses are admitted in the majority of cases to be for the purpose of securing the right to sell liquor on Sundays, the Police Commission continues to grant such licenses, and, notwithstanding the fact the hard property of the ordinance when the saloon license were revoked because of violation of the ordinance. withstanding the fact it has power to do so, has not revoked them, even in cases where the saloon licenses were revoked because of violation of the ordinance.

A movement was made in the Council a few weeks ago to prevent such licenses being granted for places where saloons are kept, but there are apparently not enough of the Councilmen who will support the movement so that it may be carried through.

THE VALLEY HUNT CLUB AND

ust Be Directed by Other Minds—The Kind of Parks

PASADENA, Oct. 7.—(Special Correspondence.) At the annual meeting of the Valley Hunt Club, Saturday evening, it was decided that the club would not undertake the management of the Tournament of Roses another year. The sentiment of the club was in favor of a continuance of the tournament and that it be taken charge of by the citizens of Pasadena, and its members will assist in making the festival a success if given under any other auspices. The club expresses its appreciation to the citizens of Pasadena for their hearty co-operation in the past and hopes for the success of the tournament in the future. This, so far as the Valley Hunt Club is concerned, settles past and hopes for the success of the tournament in the future. This, so far as the Valley Hunt Club is concerned, settles a much-mooted question, and it devolves upon others to insure a repetition of the annual spectacle that had become so popular with citizens and strangers. In discussing the subject Saturday, President T. P. Lukens of the City Council, was outspoken in his opinion that the annual Tournament of Roses should be a public spectacle in every sense of the word, barring all private interests. Properly conducted it should be profitable, and the proceeds should go to some public use—to some charity, to establish scholarships at the Throop Institute, "or even to the Salvation Army," as Mr. Lukens said; "anywhere that it would do good." It has been a noticeable fact that in previous years many hundreds of people practiced economy by driving to the edge of the grounds where the features of the programme were being enacted, and, without paying the customary admission fee, saw the show, at some disadvantage owing to distance, perhaps, but sufficiently well to satisfy curiosity and save coin. This practice would most likely cease were the gate receipts destined for some public charity instead of the exchequer of a club. This alone would add to likelihood of a financial success.

THE PARK QUESTION.

In the current revival of arguments for public parks in Pasadena there appears to be some important difference of opinion as to the kind and location of such improvements, the desirability of which is generally conceded. There are some people who advocate the acquisition of a large ract of ground in the outskirts of the city, to be laid out in driveways after a plan which would make the place especially adaptable to the needs of a Tournament of Roses or other periodical outdoor sports and spectacles, having also, of course, the perennial attractions of a Bois de Boulogne. Others say that such an idea would be highly commendable were the city already supplied with smaller parks more central. From this point of view what is now an urgent need is the purchase of a tract or tracts of ground not far from the city's center, to be transformed by the landscape gardener's art into beauty spots which should add to the fame of Pasadena and forever be public property, no matter what value the surrounding real estate may attain. Such parks would be show places and breathing spots in the future when the city may be built up close about them. Such spots there are in greet number in Pasadena now, botanical gardens, tropical luxuriance, fine winding driveways, dreams of the landscape gardener's art—but they are private, and though their owners generally welcome the admiring stranger from a long distance, the public has no share in them. As for a park the chief attractions of which shall be its long and beautiful driveways, this whole surrounding country answers the requirements. No great park in the world, and the writer has seen most of the famous ones, can match in beauty of landscape and variety of God's work, as well as man's, the environs of Pasadena.

most important deals have been reported individually. One Pasadena real estate firm alone finds its summary of the summer sales to be as follows, and of the dosens of other dealers several could doubtless make as good a showing. As some of these transfers were for less than $1000, and others were not reported at the time, the list is almost new to readers:

THE Y.P.S.C.E. MEETING.

The Presbyterian Church was filled this evening with people interested in the annual praise service of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor. The exercises were pleasing, the addresses short, bright and well delivered, and the music exceptionally good. President Archie Strong presided, and he made a happy address, followed successively by Miss Ogden on "Society at Large;" J. D. Habblek on "Christian Endeavor Work Outside the Church;" Miss York on "Work Inside the Church;" Rev. C. C. Reynolds of the Friends Church mide a brief address, in which he tendered the aid and sympathy of the organization in his church to that of the Presbyterian. Rev. N. H. G. Fite made the closing address, in which he cutlined briefly the great religious reformations of the world, classing the Christian Endeavor as the latest. The music of the evening was supplied by the new orchestra just organized by Prof. George Hibbins, and it was a surprise to most of the hearers. One selection in particular given by the orchestra was greatly admired. The meeting was a most successful one in every respect.

A FACTIONAL FRACAS.

There was an extremely lively meeting his evening at the African Church, on Cansas street, near Fair Oaks. It may not be generally known among white ooks, the it is a fact that the church in uestion is "divided against itself," and is likely to fall in consequence thereof. Two actions in the congregation have of latemen keeping up internecine strife, and the trouble came to a head this evening, when each party wanted its own preacher to deliver the sermon. Each faction was resolved that its own preacher should occupy the pulpit, and the result was a general fight, in which fists came handy, and "razsors" were held in readiness. During the uproar the police appeared on the scene and Justice of the Peace Merriam was called in to read the riot act to the colored belligerents. The Justice's exhortations and the policemen's potentiality at last quieted the meles. It was resolved, when the ardor of the disagreeing parishoners had cooled down, to leave the dispute to a sort of board of arbitration, to be made up of three deacons from Los Angeles, and one each from Alhambra and South Pasadena. The board of deacons will meet here next Thursday to settle the points in dispute.

Warmest Weather of the Season—Notes and Personals.

VENTURA, Oct. 7.—(Special Correspondence.) The first four days of the past week were the warmest of the season, but as the mercury climbed no higher than 90 deg., Ventura people have no cause for complaint. During the warm weather ocean bathing was induged in by many, but not to the extent that it should be. It is hard to find a nicer beach on the California coast than the one at Ventura, where the undertow is almost unknown, and the sand as smooth as a floor for a distance of several miles, but Venturians as a rule do not appreciate it. It is to be hoped that by another year the very healthful exercise of surf bathing will take the place it should among the outdoor sports indulged in by Ventura people.

News Notes.

SANTA ANA, Oct. 7. — (Special Correspondence.) The superintendent of the Santa Ana Valley Irrigation Company has made his annual report to the company, and as it contains matter that interests

Santa Ana Valley Irrigation Company has made his annual report to the company, and as it contains matter that interests almost every owner of property in the central portion of the valley, it is given in full. Following is the report:

"To the board of directors of the Santa Ans Valley Irrigation Company: Gentlemen: The work falling within the jurisdiction of the superintendent during the past year is as follows:

"The putting in of gates and cementing of ditches has been carried forward continuously with a regular force, and there has been put in during the year 117 gates in company ditches and three for private parties, as ordered and paid for by them; one cement culvert, 1574 feet of cemented ditch, 225 feet of black concrete pipe and one large sandgate near head of main canal for sluicing sand; the banks of the main canal shows this sandgate have been raised and thoroughly compacted and are now ready for cementing as soon as the water can be turned out for a sufficient length of time, and when this is completed it will give a sandtrap 1300 feet in length and seven feet deep, which will greatly assist in keeping the ditches free of sand.

"There has been added to the system by acceptance of private ditches as per board resolutions, the following ditches, K, V, X, and a short extension of ditch C.

"The total length of these branch ditches is about 9009 feet.

"The work of systematizing the work has been carried forward as outlined in my last annual raport, particularly in regard to the system of daily report cards a basis for water charges, and I think that these reports should be kept up and rigidly enforced. This is in line with the policy as desired by the board to have all business transacted in the office except the actually delivery of the water.

"In order that this may be done it is necessary for eaty on the regular application book.

"As regards the work for the ensuing year I should recommend the completion of the large sandtrap above the rock out, also the making of another smaller sandtrap at som such accumulations of sand may be stuced out.

"It is proper to again call the attention of the board to the necessity of doing something for the improvement of the main canal below the V bridge, as there is a great deal of seepage and loss at that point besides danger of breaks occurring. "I would recommend that the past year's policy of putting all gates in cement and of camenting the levees and slower portions of the ditch, particularly that portion of ditch A, known as the Hewes' ditch, be carried forward as rapidly as the finances of the company will permit.

"Respectfully submitted,"

"H. GARDNER, Supt."

THE SCALE DESTROYERS.

THE SCALE DESTROYERS.

Alexander Craw, State Quarantine Officer, will arrive in Orange tomorrow (Monday) with colonies of the Rhizobius debilis, Rhizobius twowoombae and Rhizobius ventralis, the parasites that clean out the black scale that infects the fruit trees in portions of this section of country. These little parasites were imported from Australia about three years ago and were started to work on the black scale near Santa Barbara. They have done remarkable work, having almost entirely rid the country around Santa Barbara of that detestable little pest—the black scale.

Mr. Craw will turn colonies of these parasites loose tomorrow on several orchards in the vicinity of Orange and, judging from what they have done in Santa Barbara and vicinity, they will make short work of the black scale. Their advent in Orange county is welcomed by both citrus and deciduous fruit-growers.

WILL BE PAID BACK.

The money collected in taxes last year by the Anahelm Irrigation District before Judge Towner's decision enjoining the further collection of the tax will be returned to those who paid it in, and an order restoring it to the taxpayer will probably be passed at the adjourned meeting of the board Tuesday of this week. The greater portion of the money will probably be apolled in payment of the tax for the liquidation of the indebtedness of the district. A little over $1000 of the taxes had been paid in to the district before Judge Towner issued his enjoinder.

AN ABSTRACTED MAP.

The following paragraph from one of the Anahelm papers would indicate that there had been an individual in that sugartown recently that had developed an unusual fondness for maps:

"When the directors of the irrigation district met on Tuesday it was noticed that the big map, which belongs to the district, and which hung suspended on the wall of the office for several years past, was missing; and, although its disappearance had been noted some time ago, the fact had not been brought to the official attention of the board until the meeting, and an inquiry will be made as to the identity of the person who abstracted the map. Several chairs were also missing, but it is probable that both the map and chairs will be found and returned to the district before many days are past."

The Populist County Central Committee

met Saturday in F. L. Sexton's office, and afterward, when one of the prominent members was asked by a press representative what business was transacted, he answered, "Nothin'." The Democrats held a meeting a few days previous to that of the Populists and transacted the same business, as they said. There seems to be a great deal of "nothing" in both of these parties, or there are some gross misrepresentations somewhere.

Fifty four-horse wagons, loaded with sugar-beets, awaiting turn to be unloaded at the Southern Pacific depot in Anaheim, was a scene witnessed a few mornings ago that needed to be seen to be appreciated. The sugar-beet industry in this county is one in which the farmers generally are becoming interested, and there are hopes that with a Republican administration there may yet be several factories erected within the confines of the county within the next few years.

The second session of the Orange County Teachers' Association will be held in the Central school building next Saturday, the meeting to open at $:30 am. LIGHT THROUGH ARBOWHEAD TUNNEL NUMBER ONE.

Connection With Little Bear Valley Reservoir and Grass Valley Es-tablished—New Voting Precincts.

SAN BERNARDINO, Oct. 7.—(Special Correspondence.) Word has been received here to the effect that tunnel No. 1 of the Arrowhead Reservoir Company broke through to light, making the first opening at 4:30 yesterday morning. The total length of the tunnel as made by yesterday's opening is 4900 feet, making connections with Little Bear Valley reservoir and Grass Valley, where the second reservoir is to be established. The tunnel is tions with Little Bear Valley reservoir and Grass Valley, where the second reservoir is to be established. The tunnel is 6x8 feet in size of opening, somewhat enlarged in places where soft rock was torn away by the blasting. There is but little timbering in the tunnel, as it is through rock all the way. Work was originally begun at both ends of the tunnel, but by the flow of water entering the upper end the workmen were driven out, and, after two years of hard labor, some of the time but two feet a day being made, the tunnel is now open. It is expected that two years more will be consumed in completing the work. Tunnel No. 1 is the largest of the series of tunnels to be constructed in order to get the water into this valley. Tunnel No. 2 from Grass Valley to Huston Flat, 2000 feet long, vas completed some time ago. The third longest is 1700 feet in length, and the shortest 300 feet. Work upon the dam will be begun at once. This is to be made of very massive and firm mamonry, in order that it may be made higher if it should ever become necessary or be thought desirable. The work now is to construct a dam 125 feet tall, and about 700 feet across at the top. This will make a basin about three miles in length and 125 feet deep at the deepest place. It is a big undertaking, but is getting on at a most satisfactory rate.

M. Estee and the A. B. Paris clubs. These clubs are composed of the young men of the Republican and Democratic parties respectively and they have a number of bright men and good debaters among the members. The question to be debated is one which allows entirely too much latitude for an evening's debate, and one upon which it will be difficult to come together to discuss any particular issue. It is: "Which Party Shall We Support at the Election This Year, the Democratic or the Republican?" The Estee Club has selected Guy Shoup and Cramer B. Morris to represent it in the debate, and the Paris Club has selected Harry Nesbit and Harry Willis. The Democratic side will open and close the debate. It is expected that the operahouse will be crowded, as there is deep interest shown in the debate.

NEW VOTING PRECINCTS.

For some time efforts have been made in various quarters to have new voting precincts or to have the boundaries of the old ones altered so as to transfer voters from one to another. These matters came up for settlement at the Supervisor's meeting. The Bloomington citizens had been insisting that they were going to have a voting precinct, and would not have to go to Rialto to vote. They have been, some of them, so cartain as to the consummation of this desire as to take eath when registering that they resided in Bloomington precinct, though informed by the registration officers that there was no such precinct. When the matter came to be settled the petition of the Bloomington citizens for a voting precinct was denied. Hence they will have difficulty in voting in a precinct other than the one in which they are registered. NEW VOTING PRECINCTS.

In looking up the matter of voting In looking up the matter of voting precincts preparatory to acting upon the petitions it was found that from Yucaipe eastward to almost the eastern boundary line of the county there was a slender, triangular strip not included in any voting precinct. At the base of the triangle when it rests against Yucaipe the strip is six miles across, and lies between the base-line meridian and the Riverside county line, terminating in a sharp point near the eastern border of the county, 180 miles distant. The strip contains about 600 square miles of territory, though there is_aid to be but three voters in the strip. and y, with all their domain, were made a part of Pass voting precinct, and will, no doubt start at once in order to reach the polling place by election day.

The dispatch says that Pipher and his wife were taken into Chief Glass's private office, where a reporter endeavored to get a statement from Pipher. The latter, however, decilined to talk. In fact, he claimed to be ignorant of the cause of his arrost. "On August 13, 1898, Chief Crowley telegraphed to Chief Glass's private of Los Angeles to arrest Pipher and his wife, and later on some of the details of Pipher's misdeeds servived.
